

06/29/2020
Press release

Data security expert Riechert: does the corona crisis justify data mass collection?

DBKdigital keynote in the month of August

In the third edition of DBKdigital, Prof. Dr. Anne Riechert answers questions from our participants from Germany and the Baltic States. Riechert is a professor for data protection law at the Frankfurt University of Applied Sciences and a scientific advisor to the Data Protection Foundation StiftungDatenschutz.

Riechert will talk with over 150 young people from four countries about current challenges for data protection. The talk's motto is "We need your data to fight Corona - does the end justify the means?" After the keynote speech, participants have the opportunity to ask questions and discuss these.

The German-Baltic Youth Office (DBJW) is committed to exchanges between young adults from Germany, the Baltic States and Russia. The DBKdigital is intended to make the voices of young people heard - even during the epidemic. The conversation takes place on the Zoom platform; the working language of the second meeting is German. Participation is free of charge. More information and the registration link can be found on www.dbjw.de.

For further questions :

Marcel Knorn
Press Officer

mknorn.dbjw@deutsch-balten.de
presse.dbjw@deutsch-balten.de

About the concept of DBKdigital :

Martin Pabst
Academic Director

mpabst.dbjw@deutsch-balten.de